NIL FALSI AUDEAM. NIL VERI NOR "AUDIAM DICERE". (Cicero.)

FRIDAY, 15th AUGUST 1862.

Congress—Senators.

The Chamber met yesterday, 20 members being present.—The project of the Minister of Finance, touching the National debt and budget, was placed in discussion.

Some difficulty occurred in the distinction of National and Provincial liabilities.

Dr. Elizalde stated that the Republic was responsible for the emissions of Buenos Aires mpe guaranteed by extraordinary duties, while an amount of 210 millions, issued by the Bank without security, must fall on the Province.

The foreign claims against Paraná were urged by Sor Rioseta as a legitimate debt of a diplomatic character, amounting to 1,275,000 silver dollers payable within 33 years. There was a sum of 67,000$ paid on this Account, the vouchers of which had disappeared. He therefore recommended that the Nation should only recognize in the first instance the coupons which were in perfect form, leaving all others to further examination. Most of these coupons were signed by the under-secretary of Finance.

The amortizement of extra duties, as proposed, allowed 17 1/2 millions to liquidate extra-emissions of paper money, and 6 1/2 millions to cover the Government Bonds.

Dr. Sarsfield ridiculed the idea of burning so much public money with the expectation of reducing doubloons to 340. He believed the fall of specie would result only from an increase of industry attendant on peace. The Bank of Buenos Aires at present holds 900,000$ silver, clear profits, and has a sum of 80 million mp perfectly idle, because the Chambers would not permit branch-banks. it would be easy with such immense capital to found a bank of exchange, but we are not permitted. The quantity of paper in circulation never affect our rate of specie, since deducting the 80 millions laid by we find no great amount of currency than before the emissions. Further it is remarkable that we have been burning paper for a long time, and ounces are still going up.

The project was voted unanimously.

The Chamber then passed to the matter of Catamarca.

Dr. Navarro stated that Dr. O'Mill was rightful Governor, as the Constitution of that province requires an absolute majority in favor of the governor elect. The members were 30 in number, of whom 15 voted for Sr. Correa, 13 for O'Mill.

Dr. Rawson alleged that there were only 29 members besides the President, and hence 15 gave an absolute majority in favor of Correa.

Dr. Navarro observed that the President must be included, making the number 30, and the law provides that where an absolute majority is not gained, the election shall be decided by casting lots. As this formality was not observed, Dr. O'Mill very naturally put his veto to the election.

The Chamber passed without opposition, the bill authorising mediation, by General Mitre, in the matter.

The Nat. debt again put on the table, Dr. Elizalde referred to extra duties which he said would give a balance of 1,200,000 $ silver, after paying the sum portioned out for Buenos Ayres. This nett product will cover all obligations affecting the Nat. Customs.

Dr. M. Pinero would vote against this article, as he objected to this distinction in the various items of Paraná Debtor Account. If the article expressed "all the home obligations of the Republic," he would consent.

Dr. Elizalde said that Congress could neither admit nor repudiate all the Nat. incumbrances.

Modesty and Moderation

Here we have twin virtues, equally agreeable to society and ornamental to the possessor. With much show of good taste, the "Tribuna" recommends them to the Minister of Government. Unhappily, we too often value the lesson by the reputation of the master, and, in this manner, the precepts of debating morality, laid down by our colleague, lose considerably. Even with the best of tutors, lessons may be illtimed, and if we admit the "Tribuna" as a paragon of modesty and moderation (?) still the recent lecture is unnecessary, ridiculous, and offensive. To anyone who has witnessed the late angry discussion, it must have seemed that Dr. Costa, unlike most men of a plethoric habit, was endued with a cool patience akin to philosophy. He sat for hours under a galling fire of acrimonious epithets, being represented as the tool of a new tyranny, comparable only to that of Rosas. He heard annoyed the glare and taunts of an Opposition which awaited the sentence of its defeat. He at length essayed to vindicate the Government, and met with frequent provoking interruptions. Yet, only once did he seem carried away, with just indignation, beyond parliamentary importer bability.

It may be easy to make blind believers in "Tribunal" impartiality, suppose that Dr. Costa leaped about the Chamber, in an undignified state of excitement, but we confess the insinuation gives us reason to laugh at the honest frankness of our colleague, who displays an intention to offend the Minister, while damaging his own character.

If the effervescing patriotism and unseemly gesticulations of Don Adolfo Alsina had inspired his own party with shame, as his speech did with admiration, we could understand the severe paragraph. As it is, neutral readers will declare that the editor of the "Tribuna" awoke the wrong man. This one-sided view is sensible only inasmuch as Varela took the Minister to be Calvo.

LATEST FROM EUROPE

Parliament on Cotton-growing in La Plata.

PRINCESS ALICE MARRIED

Hides Looking Better

The Mersey came in yesterday morning, with the Southampton mail of July 9th. The news is highly important. The Viceroy of Egypt and Prince Napoleon arrived in England. The Exhibition was getting on tolerably well. On July 1st, the marriage of Princess Alice with the Elector of Hesse took place at Osborne, in presence of Lord Palmerston and Mr Gladstone. The Premier with forbearing dignity declaring which so prevails in England at present.

Parliament has been occupied with the Chinese war question. It is asserted that the rebels are 100,000 men strong, and the last new brought to England was not of the most pacific character.

Mr Layard stated, in the House of Commons, that it was intended to take steps to ascertain the cotton-growing capabilities of the Argentine republic, and when the inspection was completed, a report would be made.

Lord Elgin was doing great things in India, at last dates. It appears his lordship's secret of success has been to keep his own countrymen in good humour, and the natives then give no trouble.

Oxford has conferred the degree of LL D on Lord Palmerston, who made a splendid speech on the occasion.

Mr Train has got himself into trouble. A verdict of manslaughter was nearly brought in against him, for an accident which occurred on the Kensington tramway, causing the death of James Wallace, a cabman: the jury, however, contrary to the direct charge of the judge, brought in a verdict of accidental death.

The money market was very easy; discount has been reduced by the Bank to 2 1/2 per cent. Consols 92 1/4. Buenos Ayrean 6 per cent bonds, 96.

France.

Paris, July 2.—The Emperor presided to-day at the Council of Ministers, and afterwards returned to Fontainbleau. The Senate having passed the Budget, the session of the Chambers will close to day.

It is stated that a note has been communicated by the French Minister at Turin to the Italian government, strongly recommending them not to tolerate any attack on Rome by the Garibaldians.

Paris, July 4.—Admiral de Lagravière with his flag on board the iron-plated frigate Normandie and six for Mexico at the end of July. The 1800 men now embarking in Algeria will start on the 8th inst for Guadaloupe. General Foley will not leave France till September.

Paris, July 5—The Moniteur contains an Imperial decree directing the sugar and molasses imported into France from England and Belgium, under the treaties with those countries, shall be subject to the following duties:—Raw but not sugar, 44 francs per 100 kilos refined, 55 francs; candied sugars of Belgium manufacture, 55 francs; molasses, 58 francs 30 cents.

Marseilles, July 5.—A conflagration has taken place in this city, by which the principal warehouse for storing merchandise has been consumed. Owing to rapidity and rapid ascendancy, the adjoining warehouses have been saved from destruction, in spite of the force of the wind.

The following are the orders of the day issued by General Lorencez after his movement of retreat:—

"Orizaba, May 31.

"Soldiers and Sailors,—Your march on Mexico has been checked by material obstacles which you must have foreseen from expecting, after the information which had been given you. You had been a thousand times told that the town of Puebla was inclosed for your approach, and that its rich citizens would press round you to cover you with flowers. It was with the confidence inspired by those deceitful assurances that we presented ourselves before its walls; but that place was full of barricades, and was invaded by a citizen, in which every means of defence had been accumulated. Our field artillery was insufficient to breach the walls, a regular siege became necessary. We did not possess it, but, confident in your intrepidity, you, without hesitation, rushed forward on the fortifications defended by artillery and by a triple range of musk try, while on your flanks you had to support the efforts of several Mexican battalions and of a numerous cavalry. You did what French soldiers alone know how to do and the most advanced of you reached the very walls of Guadaloupe, when a torrent of rain deluged the ground, rendered the steeps inaccessible, and made it impossible for us to renew the attack. Soldiers and sailors! you gave proof on the 5th of May of the most heroic courage, and the enemy became so well acquainted with you on that day that, during your retreat from Puebla to Orizaba, although you were embarrassed with a convoy of more than 200 carriages, they did not dare to attack or even to annoy you. At Palmar a party of 22 Mexican cavalry laid down their arms before a corporal and four privates of the African Chasseurs. At Acultzingo, the cavalry of General Marquez found itself cut off on the hill by the army of Zaragoza, and marching from the Cumbres. The second battalion of the 99th Regiment of the line marched from Fogueto with a section of mountain artillery to release the cavalry. They rushed on the enemy with such vigour that they captured a flag, and led to the dispersion of the army of Zaragoza and the surrender of 800 infantry and 400 cavalry. The battalion of the 99th under Commandant Lefebre, covered itself with glory at Acultzingo. Soldiers and sailors, your feats of arms since your departure from Cordova, on the 19th of April, until your return to Orizaba, on the 31st of May, and the difficulties you have had to surmount, will be judged of and appreciated by the Emperor, and he assured that His Majesty will recognize by noble testimonies your valour and your devotedness. Vive l'Empereur!

Poland.

The Independance Belge publishes in a letter from Warsaw, dated July 4, a detailed account of the attempt to assassinate the Archduke Constantine.

"I send you a few details of the horrible attempt to assassinate the Grand Duke Constantine. Yesterday morning 3d July, his Imperial Highness the Grand Duke Constantine, had received at the Chateau du Belvédère the high Polish functionaries, & a deputation from the municipal body, presented to him by the head of the Civil Administration, Marquis Wielopolski. The duke had a kind word for each; to the members of the Council of State he said that he counted upon their loyal support, and was happy to share their labours. At noon his Imperial Highness visited the Greek Cathedral, afterwards the Catholic Cathedral, and was received at the portion of both churches by the metropolitan archbishops of the respective faiths. He was heartily welcomed everywhere by a large crowd, who occasionally cheered him. In the evening his Imperial Highness drove in his carriage to the theatre, without an escort to see the opera of Stradella. Before the opera was over while getting into his carriage, about half past nine o'clock, under the vestibule of the theatre, an individual who had concealed himself in one of the passages approached close to him and fired a pistol point blank at him. The ball, fortunately, only grazed the right shoulder, having been turned off by a button, and the archduke's epaulette. The assassin was immediately seized by one of the aides-de-camp on duty. Baron Bremsen, who caught him so firmly by the back of the neck that he nearly choked him. The man vomited, and it was for a moment supposed he had taken poison. This miscreant's watch had the pistol still in his hand. His name is Jarozynski, and he is a tailor's apprentice. He has already been examined, and some of his accomplices have been arrested. It is difficult to describe what consternation this event has caused among Russians, as well as among the Poles. The open, as you may imagine, was brought to a sudden conclusion, and among the first at the side of the grand duke was the Marquis Wielopolski. The Grand Duke was taken back to his box in the Opera House where he received a medical aid, and had the wound bandaged. He then proceeded in a closed carriage to the Chateau du Belvédère. He himself informed the grand duchess of what had occurred, and, despite the advanced state of her pregnancy, she received the n ws with great calmness.

The following is the official announcement of the attempt:—

Yesterday [3rd] at 9.30 p m, as his Imperial Highness the Grand Duke Constantine was leaving the Opera House, on the point of entering his carriage, a young man approached him and, aiming a pistol towards his person, fired. The protection of Providence watched over so precious a life.

The bullet pierced the military overcoat, the epaulette, uniform, and shirt, inflicting a wound just above the left clavicle, but, stopped by the fringe of the epaulette, declined between the shirt and flesh. The miscreable assassin was arrested on the spot."

Switzerland.

Berne, July 7. To-day the election of the National Council and the Council of States took place.

M. Escher, from Zurich, was elected President of the National Council and M. Huer, from Glaris, Vice-President.

The Council of States elected M. Vigier, of Soleure, as President, and M. Heberlin, of Turgovie, as Vice-President.

Signor Rattazzi has addressed a note to the Swiss Government directing its attention to fresh movements by the party of action, and requesting it to watch the frontiers, in order that Swiss territory may not be made the focus of revolutionary enterprises.

Bavaria

One of the most important reforms that has taken place for a length of time in the political régime of Bavaria was effected on the 1st instant—the complete separation of the judicial administration from that of the Government. That modification secures the complete independence of the judges, and is a natural consequence of the introduction of the new penal code.

LATEST FROM THE U. STATES.

GENERAL BUTLER AND THE FOREIGN CONSULS AT NEW ORLEANS.

Richmond Stormed by the Northerns.

AWFUL CARNAGE.

New York, June 20.

Advices from New Orleans have been received in New York to the 18th inst.

Four men have been hung at New Orleans for falsely representing themselves as Federal officials, searching houses in the city, stealing articles therefrom. One of these men was an Englishman.

The British, French, and Greek consuls have remonstrated to General Butler that two commercial firms of New Orleans had informed them that 3,000 bbls. of sugar which these commercial firms had purchased, and which were the property of British, French, and Greek subjects, were not allowed to be taken from the place in which they were stored without orders from General Butler.

The consuls explained that the engagements were paid for by bills of exchange drawn on the owner of the sugar they sold that the transactions were entirely non-political, and that the owners had suffered heavy losses by being prevented from shipping the sugar. The consuls were disposed to waive all pat ent rights if in order for the shipment of the sugar were given.

General Butler replied, that the commercial firms mentioned had been engaged in buying Confederate notes, giving for them sterling exchange, thus transferring abroad the credit of the rebellious States, and enabling bills to be converted into bullion for the purchase of arms. He stated also, that the Confederate notes purchased by this exchange had been used to buy cotton and sugar. The sugar in question was valued at $200,000, being part of what was bought.

The Spanish, French, Italian, Greek, and Swiss consuls have unanimously protested against the oath demanded by General Butler of foreigners. The consuls state that since the commencement of the war they had remained neutral, and as neutrals they could not be treated as the conquered population. A conquered people might be submitted to exceptional laws, but neutral foreigners have a right to be treated as they have always been by the Federal Government.

General Butler replied that the oath was declared necessary to meet the cases of foreigners who had meddled in the affairs of the rebellion, many of whom also had concealed the fact of their naturalization.

THE BATTLE AT CHARLESTON.

New York, June 21.

The following items have been received concerning the reported battle at Charleston :—

Memphis, June 21.

A special despatch to the Augusta paper from Charleston, on the 16th June, says :—

"A severe battle took place this morning on James Island, four miles from this city. Five regiments of Federals, with artillery, attacked our batteries at Secessionville. Colonel Lamar commanded the Confederates, and with a few hundred men repulsed the enemy three times with great slaughter. The enemy fought bravely, but were defeated. Our victory was complete. The enemy's loss is surposed to be about 400, including 30 prisoners. Our loss is estimated at from 50 to 100. Colonel Lamar was wounded. Captains Reid and King, and Lieut. Edwards, were killed. The attack will soon be renewed. The Confederates are much exhausted by the previous shelling of the enemy day and night for a week."

The "Charleston Mercury" of the 17th says :—

"The Confederate loss at Secession ville yesterday, was 40 killed and 160 wounded. We buried on the field 100 Federals, and took 40 prisoners."

RICHMOND.

The following despatches have been received from General McClellan's head quarters :—

Major-General McClellan's Head-quarters, June 23.

Fortress Monroe, June 21.

We learn to-day from the army of the Potomac that quite a skirmish took place on the 19th June between the 20th Indian regiment in General Kearney's division and the rebels, which lasted for more than an hour.

The Indian boys took their ground and sustained very slight loss. Lieutenant Cara, Company I, and three privates were wounded. In the affair more the regiment was complimented by General Kearny for its bravery and discipline.

This is the regiment that was once nearly sacrificed at Chickamocomico, N. C., early in the operations on that coast under Colonel Hawkins, and which has been until lately attached to General Wool's division.

INSURRECTION OF NEGROES

A Mississippi paper says that information from Clai borne County states that the negroes were arming themselves rapidly for the purpose of killing all the whites. On the 15th June a plot was discovered in time to be frustrated.

THE VERY LATEST

We are informed by some of the passengers, per Mercury, that by a telegraphic despatch just received at Lisbon as the steamer was leaving, later intelligence had arrived from the States, that McClellan had entered Richmond, and after 4 days' fighting, taken the place.

It is reported that the Confederates, after resting outside for a couple of days, returned to the charge, and successfully retook Richmond, and that the Federals lost 70,000 men in the encounter.

These Lisbon fabricators, we may add, cannot be much relied on. We all remember the last packet news, when it was stated that McClellan was actually back across the Potomac; yet it was a most gross exaggeration of the facts.

Mexico.

The "Journal du Commercio" says that Marquez the revolutionary leader against Juarez, had joined the French General Lorencez and, with their combined forces had beaten the Mexican general Saragoza. Almonte continued governing in Vera Cruz, but very little to the satisfaction of the French.

The New York Herald :—"We have papers from Matida, in the state of Yucatan, Mexico, to the 28th May, containing detailed accounts of the recent conflicts between the French and Mexicans at Puebla. The spirits of the people seem to be thoroughly aroused, and the papers say that the whole French army will either be cut to pieces or compelled to surrender. There are brief statements of two her attack on the French rear, during their retreat from Puebla, but the official documents had not been received in Yucatan. Considerable sickness prevailed at Vera Cruz at latest dates."

The mas ers mate of the privateer Sumter had been arrested at Boston.

ex-Gov Todd's address.

Our dates from Rosario reach to the 13th instant. The Minister of warhad arrived: immediately the 2d Battalion of the line was shipped on board the Rio de Mayo, bound for the province of Corrientes.

No further details had transpired about the state of that province.

Colonel Rivas had arrived from the interior.

The want of Bolivian currency was very severely felt by the merchants of that city and a case had already arisen of the Custom House being obliged to protest bills against a firm who alleged that it found itself utterly unable to find the money in town.

Governor Sarmiento of San Juan, mounted a large mining company with $1,000,000 silver dollars capital he had taken 10 shares and paid the first day, shares were taken by a few persons to the amount of $ 30,000, or over one third of the total sum. This show that there is a good prospect of carrying out the proposed scheme.

Affairs in Mendoza continue in the same state, the Lieutenant and very rarely do Europeans live far apart in their country residences.

To the Governor of Salta, setuely reaching in days had addressed a very lengthy letter to General Pedernera congratulation of his late conduct as Governor of Salta.

The Governor of Cordoba, by the great Ourrency, turns out to be a sham. Instead of 1,000 as it appears he was returning precisely home with only 4 followers.

The present army at Rojas under the command of General Emilio was shortly expected in Rosario. In the meantime the National Guard was on service until their arrival.

The Legislature of Catamarca had revoked the contract appointing Senor Gorion to the Government and had appointed a day for new elections. It was confidently expected that the arrival of the national Commissioner, General Rojo, would terminate in a peaceable manner all the existing disturbances.

Shocking Murder

in Magdalena

We have received intelligence of a most atrocious murder in Mag dalena. The murdered man's name is Moore. He was accosted and in his own house, and the murderers robbed and sacked the house of every thing that was in it, even to the man's shoes.

We have heard of all details concerning this sad affair, but as we learn, some neighbours went to his house, and found him lying on the floor, in his own blood; the head was almost completely severed from the body, and in a variety of clothes, furniture, etc, could be found in the house.

Correspondence.

We have received the following letters for publication; they refer to a lawsuit which has been pending in this country for many years, and which is to be hoped will once and for ever be terminated, as the laws delay in this country is becoming a by-word with us all.

Buenos Aires, August 7th 1862.

My dear Hugh,

Application has been made to the British Consulate for three boxes, said to contain papers connected with the testamentaria of my late father, which, as you were for some time in charge of the estancia, perhaps you can give me some information respecting them, as it appears they are not there at present.

Believe me

Your affectionate Cousin
Elizabeth Welchman.

Bs. As. August 8th 1862.

Dear Elizabeth.

I have received your note of yesterday's date, inquiring if I can give you any inform ation respecting three boxes that were deposited in the British Consulate.

It is true, there were three boxes deposited with Mr. Hood, at the British Consulate, containing papers belonging to your late Father; but these boxes were removed from the British Consulate to the house of Hughes Brothers, in the year 1851, after the departure of my brother for England, and during my administration of the estancia. I recollect seeing these boxes with the British Consular seal on them, for years, in the store of Messrs. Hughes Brothers.

On the removal of the house of Hughes Brothers from calle Maypu to calle Rivadavia, these box s were removed, I think, with other things belonging both to my late brother and myself, to the house of Mr Malcolm, in calle Defensa, which Mr. Bethell Hughes had taken for the reception of my brother and his family, on their arrival from England.

Mr. Hyllier, who was with Mr. Hood at the British Consulate, at the time I left there, could give you, I have no doubt, some information with respect to the boxes in question, as he, I am convinced, was the person employed by Mr. Hood to superintend their removal from the British Consulate to the house of Hughes Brothers.

Your affectionate Cousin
H. T. Sheridan.

Customs Capacity

To the Editor of the Standard.

British Iron Steamship, August 11th, 62.

I arrived in the port of Buenos Ayres, on the 27th ultimo, with a cargo and 14 passengers. In a hurried manner, and during a perfect calm and bad weather, I made out the necessary lists, viz., the above ship's papers and manifest, with duplicates. In doing so, I happened to omit some barrels flour and three bales of rope, both in the cargo list, and I only discovered the omission on the voyage.

Notwithstanding that these articles were put and passed, at ship's stores, and duly sufficient to take them on the voyage, because told of into consideration the hurried manner in which the clear list was made out, the custom house have thought proper to condemn the above-mentioned articles.

But what I will you not think they have been much enough to buy cruise to a dozen champagne glasses, merely packed in a box (a caddy). If you can conveniently set this, you will confer a great favour on

Yours, etc,
T. Tawrnier.

European Market.

During the last fortnight the demand for the Cotton has become more active, and, although we have no large sales items to report, the general tone of the market has improved. The supply, as is usually the case in the month of June, has been small, and some articles are required in larger quantities than come to hand, but no advance in price can be reported, and in some cases the inclined quotations of last month are still maintained. Purchasers have been rather sparingly for a length of time past, and yet but little surplus stock remains to meet the increased demand for the Autumn trade which may be expected shortly to commence. In the present state of the country, and of its commercial relations, we do not calculate upon any very decided improvement in prices, but we see reason to expect that the demand will be sufficiently in advance of the production to give the turn in favour of the manufacturers.

Rice Goods.—The principal import of the past month are as follows :—

2,155 dry, 56,347 salted. Ox and cow hides, 140,834 salted horse from the River Plate 6 1/2 to 6¾ ox hides 5 1/2 for cows.

Liverpool, July 9th 1862.

Private Circular from River Plate Mail
Liverpool, July 7th 1862.

The arrivals of Buenos Ayres, &c Wool since date of the 6th ultimo amount to 975 bales and bags.

The Antwerp sales referred to in our last took place on the 25, 26, and 27th ult. Of 7430 bags River Plate wools brought forward, 5,509 bags were sold, the middling and fine qualities suffering a decline of from 5 to 10 ⅀, whilst common descriptions realized about same prices as in the April sales there.

The few transactions that have taken place here, have been chiefly for Export at prices on a par with Antwerp rates. The bulk of our stocks here will probably be offered at auction after the East India sales which are announced to take place on the 10th inst.

At Havre Public sales are announced to be held on the 17th inst and following days—they will comprise about 7,500 bags Bs. Ayres and Montevideo Sheepskins.—The recent Imports are held rather above what the trade at present are disposed to give.

Merino washed from 1s 3d to 1s 8d.
Mestizo 1d to 2d 1s to 3d.
Do & Merino unwashed 8d to 10d.

On Change.

August 11th, 1862.

Ounces opened to-day at 419 4 and closed at 420 1/2: sales exceeded 15,000.

Bolivian currency sold at 21 3/8, about $ 5,000 changed hands.

In consequence of the late British mail from Europe with unsatisfactory reports we have scarcely any sales to notice.

1000 Entre-Rios hides, sold at 45 1/2 rls and several parcels of dry ox and cow hides at the places at previous rates from 4 1/2 to 5 1/2.

As yet a few indirect from which are supplementary, until will be made up for the French packet Saint-George; not in the custom house as at the French Consul's office. If there is a vessel for Montevideo we shall receive letters and papers only up to 12 o'clock P M.

LOCAL EVENTS.
